

THE CONVENING YR

Humanizing Education

FEBRUARY 27TH

Highline College | Des Moines, WA

TAF's Network for EdWork (NWEW) supports and connects BIPOC educators and leaders to create education spaces where students of color - and thereby all students - thrive. In partnership with districts, schools, higher education, nonprofits, and government we collaborate to have a school system that is more representative of its student populations.

LEARN MORE

The Convening is a BIPOC-led, one-day gathering dedicated to providing the tools and community to thrive, connect, develop partnerships, and advocate for liberatory practices in education.

This event is open to BIPOC Educators and all leaders in education.

Be Part of The Convening!

Submit your talk, panel, workshop, interactive performance, or activity for consideration

SUBMIT HERE

OPEN UNTIL NOVEMBER 15, 2026

Humanizing Education

What happens when we bring the human experience back into ways of learning and being? At this year's Convening, we're creating space to honor who students and teachers are. A space that recognizes that liberatory, humanizing practices are essential to our communities and at the heart of educational justice.

NETWORK FOR EDWORK
Powered by TAF

Learn more at nwewconvening.techaccess.org